FIRST SUNDAY OF LENT. . .

There are many devotional books for us during Lent. Each one is different and meets different needs for different people. I came across a booklet* that is for the family and would like to share the Sunday devotions with you during Lent. I hope you enjoy these excerpts.

“I have set my [rain] bow in the clouds, and it shall be a sign of the covenant between me and the earth. Genesis 9:13

The rainbow is the sign that God gave Noah that he would never again flood the whole earth. It was a sign of the promise between God and his people, like a divine handshake. God offered it to us so that every time we see the rainbow, we can be reminded of how he loves us. We are people who need signs, who experience love not just once with words, but over and over again with the help of things. We experience love through touch, smells, sounds and sights. Children ask their parents to sing the same songs over and over, to play the same games because these repeated actions give them safety and security. Couples go to the places where they first met or where they had significant moments because these spots become signs of how they feel about each other. God meets us in places, rituals, nature, and people.

Pray. . . Jesus, I give you my heart with my acts of love today.

Practice Love . . . Think of and share, or write down, three signs of love that are meaningful for you. Is it the smell of a certain meal being made? A fistful of flowers? Arriving home to a clean house, seeing a beautiful sunset or being awestruck by the presence of a butterfly. What sights, sounds or experiences fill you with a sense that God is with you, that you are loved? “

HOLY FISH FRY REPORT! We had an amazing, overwhelming, heart warming response to our first fish fry of the season. We served a record breaking 251 people for the first meal of the season! We could not have done it without the generous help of you! If you donated a baked good, helped with pre-dinner prep, helped during the dinner or cleaned up at the end—we couldn't have done it without you! There are never adequate words to say thank you—but know that you were important to the Fish Fry success!

THANK YOU!!!!
